State's Advantages To Be Emphasized During 1956 Michigan Week

Michigan's advantages as a state in which to live, work and play will be emphasized for the third consecutive year with the observance of the state-wide celebration, Michigan Week, May 20-26. The event, with "It's Great to Live in Michigan" as the slogan, is sponsored by Greater Michigan Inc. in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Economic Development and other state agencies.

Gaining greater momentum with each consecutive year, this year's Michigan Week observance is expected to generate more enthusiasm, more participation, and more events than ever before.

Russell Swaney, Michigan Week general chairman, describes the program as a "grass roots" one. Says Mr. Swaney, "It's objective is to awaken our people to the past, present and challenging future of our great State for the purpose of building a better Michigan. This can be accomplished only by good state, county, and local observances."

Program for the week is based upon the designation of seven special days starting Sunday, May 20 as Spiritual Foundations Day. Churches and religious leaders, of all denominations, are being asked to point up, for this day, the spiritual values of life in Michigan and to examine the Michigan history of their faiths.

Other days are designated as follows: Monday, Exchange; Tuesday, Hospitality; Wednesday, Livelihood; Thursday, Education; Friday, Heritage; Saturday, New Frontiers.

First scheduled state-wide event is the exchange of mayors, when nearly 400 Michigan executives swap towns for the day. Purpose of the day is to help towns and communities become better acquainted with one another. Cities are paired by lottery with no attempt being made to match towns of similar size or close geographic location. Metropolitan mayors often go to villages and towns, and upper peninsula cities exchange with towns in southern Michigan.

Veterans groups across the state will unite on a common, and week-long, event, "Operation Facelift." On this project the veterans will take community eyesores and clean them up during Michigan Week.

New Frontiers Day, the last day of Michigan Week, will spark another event. Highlight of the day will be the presentation of the "Waterways Award" to five notables for distinguished attainment in opening new horizons. The award winners are selected by a committee composed of the presidents of the state's four universities. Winners are selected for their promotion and success in the frontiers of science, art, literature, industry, business, labor and other fields.

The award will be presented as a special ceremony at the Mackinac bridge now under construction. The significance of the bridge, as a new frontier in the state's economic development, will also be pointed up when radio and television reporters converge at St. Ignace for a special press conference New Frontiers Day.

County and local observance of Michigan Week will be varied. Parades, banquets, industrial tours and other special events are being scheduled. Schools and colleges will play an active role Education Day (Thursday) with special projects, open houses, and other observances planned.

Michigan Week, which attracts wide-scale participation, from Governor G. Mennen Williams down to the first graders, is essentially a volunteer effort. More than 450 Michigan citizens are serving on many state-wide committees. Together, with the county and local organization, the total number of volunteers is approximately 3,000.

National attention will be focused on the state during Michigan Week with the expected coverage of the various events by newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Doc Nurses a Daydream

It's a treat when I get together with Doc Sherman. The Clarion keeps me much too busy — and Doc, well I think he puts in sixteen hours a day at the hospital.

But Tuesday — a beautiful day — he and I slipped away for a ride around Turtle Lake. Doc's driving a 1956 humdinger — it's like riding on a cloud.

Anyway, at one point Doc slowed almost to a halt. "Used to fish there as a boy, Joe," he said. "Used to sit and imagine myself up on the highway driving a high-powered car. Nowadays, I just sit here and wish I were down there again."

From where I sit, few of us are ever content with the way things are at any given moment. It's human nature. On the other hand, I've been rooting for years that someday everybody will show enough good American tolerance to respect his neighbor's right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer. When that day comes I assure you that I'll never want to change back.

Without Varnish . . .

David Lawrence tells a plain unvarnished truth in an article copyrighted by the New York Herald-Tribune when he says: "The modern concept of progressivism can lead to financial deterioration by increased spending but it is today applauded as 'popular' and a good way for ambitious individuals to get elected to public office."

"It was Thomas Jefferson who first declared the doctrine of 'equal rights for all, special privilege for none,' but today he would be called a man without a varnish and a reactionary who wants 'to turn the clock back.'"

"Insolvency, however, is threatened when legislators in a democracy can spend taxpayers' money without restraint. There is today no sign of a permanent halt to the steadily diminishing value of the dollar in America in terms of purchasing power. Solvency cannot be assured without sound fiscal methods."

"The pages of history are strewn with the wreckage caused by those in government who tried to spend more money than the taxpayers could pay."

Capitalistic Exploitation - U. S. Style

The classic complaint against capitalism, from the Marx on down, is that it exploits the masses unrelentingly to benefit the few.

One wonders how that old dogma can be squared with what is going on in this capitalistic country.

U. S. News & World Report recently ran an article on how the American worker is making out. The ahead observes that he "spends more, owns more, and lives better than ever." The average family income is a record peak of $5,560 a year. The family's assets total $11,828. And the prospects are for steady and continued improvement.

The magazine sums up with these words: "Right now, the average working man holds a bigger stake in his nation's economic well-being than ever before. He's living in a better house, driving a better car, enjoying more of the costly comforts than at any previous time. That's what capitalist exploitation has accomplished."

The Price Of A Newspaper Strike . . .

A news story of general interest is highlighted in an Associated Press release from East Lansing, Michigan: "The bureau of business research at Michigan State university reported...that Detroit stores lost $35 million in sales in December because of the city-wide newspaper strike there. The bureau said its conclusions were based on state sales tax returns from Detroit as compared with the previous December and with sales tax returns from Detroit suburbs." The strike lasted well into January but, the AP said, only December sales were counted in this survey.

Miss Helen Lietz, who has for the past three years been a student at the Mercy School of Nurses, Bay City, was chosen Honor Student of her class at the Commencement exercises which took place Tuesday, May 16th, at the Elizabeth McDowell Blay Nurses' Home.

The annual J-Hop, the big social affair of the spring season, is an event of the past and the dream of the class of '34 has been realized, while the seniors, the honor guests, have recorded in their memory another pleasant occasion of their last year in high school. The decorations, most unique and attractive, were planned and carried out entirely by the class and their advisor, Mr. Cornell.

Above the dance floor, and just below the balcony was a solid canopy of pine boughs, with here and there lights with green reflectors. In the center of the canopy was a huge snowball. Beautiful pine trees surrounded the floor near the outside wall, giving a woody, outdoor appearance while over the windows and back of the orchestra had been placed green paper with silver zigzag marking representing lightning.

This carried out the senior class colors which are green and silver. An elevated platform for the orchestra, placed at the back of the gym, was decorated with the green paper and trees. Cozy corners and inviting nooks had been arranged around the room.

HOW ABOUT THAT

Chamber - Avalanche Begins Cartoon
Series Boosting Local Business

The Crawford County Avalanche, in cooperation with the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce is beginning a series of editorial cartoons that pertain to the various types of businesses that are in the county. They show in a humorous way, the advantages and the importance of buying in Crawford County with local business men.

Your money means more to you when you spend it here in Crawford County. Let's reflect on this for a moment or two.

Local merchants and their employees are usually your fellow citizens, your neighbors, your friends. They stand behind their counters, on their display floors, always ready to serve you in a courteous manner, though the hours are long. A good thing to remember is - the more you buy from County merchants, the better they can serve you.

Prices are usually the same, if not lower, especially in these days of "fair trade" items. The delivery is much quicker, the advance is certainly better, and its far less trouble all around. Crawford County Merchants are always ready and anxious to stand behind the merchandise that you buy.

Another reason, probably the most important reason why you should buy in Crawford County is - money spent with local merchants helps meet local payrolls, helps pay local taxes, helps local schools, helps local churches, improves services of police and fire departments, improves sanitary services and what have you.

Your money works its way directly into the lifeblood of the community and works its way directly or indirectly for the good of all who live in the community.

Grayling is noted all over the country for being a Sportsmen's center. Good hunting, and even better trout fishing. We have an excellent project for our youth in that stretch of the East Branch which is kept stocked and is open only to the younger fishermen.
However, what good does this do the boys when no control whatever is exercised over them? For the past two years I've been interested in watching the fishing there because my own boy has developed trout fever. And it really gets me down to see some of the youngsters hauling out 30 or 40 trout - and keeping them all.

Many of them kill any trout caught, regardless of size. Others take any opportunity to sneak over or under the hatchery fence early in the morning or late in the evening. These boys actually think it is the smart thing to do catch all you can and brag about it to your friends. Evidently, no one has tried to keep their thinking along these lines straight, or they wouldn't feel that way.

In my opinion, any boy who loves to fish is the type who will listen to the why's and where-fore's of conservation if they are presented to him during these formative years. These boys are the sportsmen of future years - or the violators. The choice, it seems to me, isn't actually up to them. They are guided by what their elders do and say.

The remedy for this situation is quite simple. First, the conservation officers should take a little time off from their duties in checking the older fishermen and spend some time with these boys where they fish. They should try to get the proper ideas across to them, and let the boys know they are friends - not just "woods police". Second, the parents should make sure that their son isn't one who thinks it is smart to be a fish hog. If you let your son know that you personally condemn such actions, and follow this up by checking a bit on his fishing activities, then Grayling will continue to be a Sportsmen's Center in the true sense of the word.

I think this is one of the most important things you can do for your boys. Don't you agree?

Our Remodeling Program

WHAT WE TEACH AND
HOW WE TEACH IT

By Frank Bond

During the past year the ground floor of the old gymnasium has been remodeled into three rooms. Two of these are planned for the homemaking area, the other as an activity and projection room. This room can be used for public speaking, dramatics and will seat over one hundred pupils for projection work.

The upper floor (balcony level) of the old gym has been made into four classrooms, an area for the school supply room, two lavatories and an added room for the school nurses department. Two of the classrooms, the two lavatories and the room for the nurses department have been in use this year. The other two classrooms are lighted and equipped with blackboards and bulletin boards. Floor tile and furniture will be necessary in order to put them in use next year when they will be needed.

It has been financially impossible to complete and equip the new homemaking area as planned. Because of the large difference in the architects' estimates, on which the bond issue was figured, and the actual bids by the contractors the money planned for this had to be used to complete the new building and do what remodeling has been done.

Next year the sixth grade can be moved down stairs and that room used for a seventh grade home and class room. A home room for the eighth grade is also planned for the present commercial room as soon as it can be moved to a larger area in front of the present study hall.

Home rooms for the seventh and eighth grades will be decided improvement and will also leave the present study hall available for a high school library-study room and commercial area.

As soon as the homemaking department can be moved to the new area in the old gym the natural and physical science departments can be moved. By taking the wooden partition out between the present homemaking room and the old locker room an area will be made available that will make good laboratory and lecture rooms.

Present estimates indicate that a minimum of $20,000.00 will be needed to do this. It was originally planned to have the homemaking department moved by now. The balance of the work outlined above was planned for next year and was to have been financed by money transferred from the general fund.

Because of a decidedly increased budget it is unlikely that there will be funds available to do any more than finish the two rooms in the old gym for next year. An increased enrollment makes it necessary to add another elementary teacher for next year. Another high school teacher should be added to the staff but it may be possible to delay this another year by discontinuing some classes or by not making two sections out of some of the larger classes.

The increased state aid for next year would hardly pay for the added cost of two additional teachers to say nothing of raises for the present members of the entire school staff. Our salaries are lower than those of schools in Northern Michigan of comparable size and considerably lower than the state average. Little increase can be expected in local tax revenue which is the only major source other than state aid that the school has.

If we are to provide adequate rooms for our children and staff with good teachers we must find some means of making more funds available for remodeling, salaries and the general budget.

FLY TWA TO Disneyland

FIRST DAY
You will arrive at LOS ANGELES International Airport relaxed and refreshed after your flight in TWA's new Constellation. Transfer to the Disneyland Hotel located adjacent to DISNEYLAND by helicopter direct from the airport to the "Disneyland" or use the airport limousine service to town, then by public transportation.

After getting settled in the Disneyland Hotel, you will probably want to get acquainted with the many facilities available for your comfort and convenience at this new and luxurious hotel. You will also want to review the exciting attractions in DISNEYLAND so that you can spend your next day "doing" rather than "being" during your time "selecting."

SECOND DAY
In DISNEYLAND, this is the day you have been looking forward to! It is the day you spend at fabulous DISNEYLAND. You will want to rise early in order to get most out of your stay.

You will be provided with a DISNEYLAND ticket plan which offers a selection of the fabulous rides of your choice plus multiple admissions to the park. The ride you will undoubtedly want to take first is TWA's stimulating and realistic "Rocket to the Moon" located in the heart of Tomorrowland.

You will soon find that Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom of DISNEYLAND has universal appeal. The young and the old, the gay and the romantic, the dreamer and the realist—all soon fall under the enchantment of this land of yesterday, tomorrow and fantasy.

You will be delighted with the many facilities available for your comfort and convenience, including eating places from conventional "snack" bars located throughout the park to restaurants serving meals "fit for a king." At the end of the day, you will return to your hotel perhaps tired and excited but verily steeped in the pleasure and entertainment gained from the multitude of original attractions you have enjoyed.

THIRD DAY
In DISNEYLAND, even though your thoughts begin to return to every day matters, you will decide to spend just a few more hours for a final look at nostalgic Main Street, U.S.A., and memorable Adventureland or for another glimpse into the future in Tomorrowland, to relieve for a while America's colorful past in Frontierland and of course, revisit Fantasyland, perhaps the most enchanting and happiest of all Disney's Kingdoms.

Two additional leave this wondrous land, you will be secure in the knowledge that you have, for a while at least, captured your youth and, of course, stored for all times a treasury of fond memories.

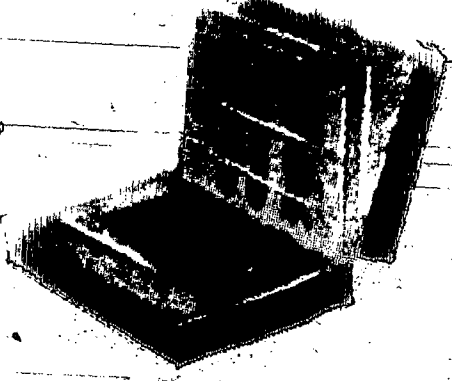

Return to LOS ANGELES International Airport and depart for home on one of TWA's Constellations.
